

Dear Dr. Michelle Ito,

I am writing this letter in support of Adesuwa Aigbuza. Adesuwa was a student in my courses, Dispensing, Compounding, and Calculations in the Fall of 2022, PHAR 531 Professional Communications in the Spring of 2024, and was a teaching assistant for my course in the Fall of 2023. I also worked closely with Adesuwa when she volunteered in Upward Bound, a program I ran for socioeconomically disadvantaged high school students. She subsequently presented a poster at a professional conference based on research done on this experience.

As you review Adesuwa's CV, you will find that there is no lack of leadership experience for Adesuwa. She has excelled in this area well above her peers. It has been a privilege to observe Adesuwa's leadership skills in action. Adesuwa leads with a calm, confident, and assertive demeanor that commands respect while remaining highly professional. This is particularly evident in the deep respect that she has earned from both her colleagues and professors. Adesuwa was also an excellent mentor to the high school students she worked with in the Upward Bound program. The leadership skills that Adesuwa has demonstrated in pharmacy school will undoubtedly continue to flourish and serve her throughout her career.

Adesuwa's journey is exciting to witness. She is an absolute pleasure to interact and work with. I am thrilled to see all that she accomplishes and will continue to accomplish. Adesuwa will excel in whatever she chooses, and she is destined to continue to be a leader in the world of pharmacy. Receiving this recognition from you would be more than well-deserved. Adesuwa is the embodiment of this award and is the perfect candidate to represent the leadership legacy of John F. (Jack) Schlegel.

Please do not hesitate to reach out if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Marisella C. Guerrero, Pharm D
